

3 LIES LEADERS TELL THEMSELVES

"They know they can come to me"

An open door policy isn't enough. They need to feel safe enough to use it. Remind them.

"They understand my vision"

Nobody else can see what you see. Jump through hoops to ensure your team understands where you want to go.

"They feel empowered"

Tell them what you need and let them figure out the how. You need to be the first one to extend trust.
